

DEMAND STATE
PUBLIC STATE
ACCOUNTABILITY
JUDGES NOW
PREVENT SECRET TRIALS

1975

August 26, '75. The 55th anniversary of Women's Suffrage. Women marched in celebration in Downtown L. A.

THE WAY IT WAS

RIGHT: June 15, '75
benefit for new Woman's Building brought 1,300 to hear women's music & comedy.

LEFT: August, '75 San Diego
Music Festival: 1,000 happy
Sunshine Dykes and Kids got rained on — — —
and loved it!

Photos by E.K. Waller

 PHOTOS by E.K. Waller
LAY-OUT DESIGN: Jeanne Cordova
PHOTO CAPTIONS by Rogi A. Rubyfruit, &
WJD

Photos by E.K. Waller

Top: Hot fun in the Summertime at music fest.
 Below Left: "Out of the offices, into the Street!"
 march chant echoes in Downtown L.A.
 Right sequence: In the final days of the "old" Woman's Building, women bought a-dollar-a-square piece of gallery space to say what they'd felt about the Building.
 The out-come was a room collage of anger and joy.

Photos by E.K. Waller

Photos by E.K. Waller

Photos by E.K. Waller

Photos by E.K. Waller

Photos by E.K. Waller

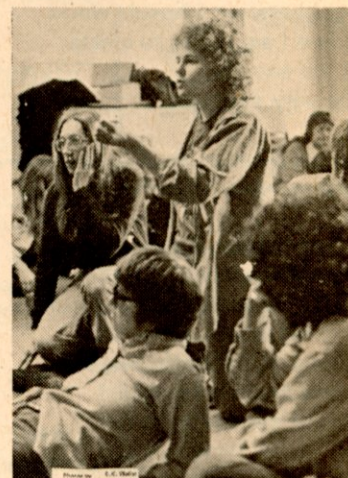

Top: Oct. 29, 1975, 7 thousands across country, marched on ALICE * DOESN'T day, protesting women's economic status.

RIGHT: Someone, Somewhere - trying to get her point across. - Welcome to the REVOLUTION!

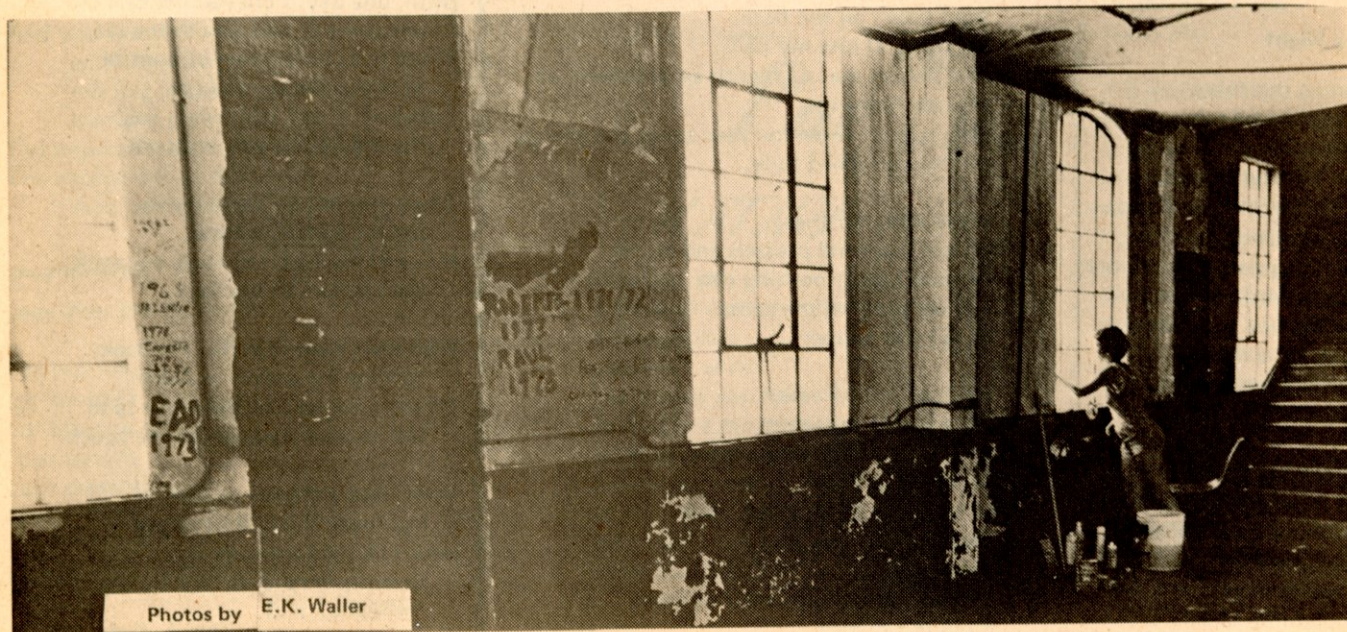

BOTTOM: Summer, 1975. The WOMAN'S BUILDING moved from a downtown ghetto on South Grandview to an uptown ghetto on North Spring Street. Dozens (and more, on Saturdays) helped turn the new three-story hulk into a strong, new home - replete with: art galleries, coffeshop, bookstore, graphics dept, conference and concert space, offices, therapists, elevator, toilets - did we leave anything out?

Anyway -

HAPPY THIRD ANNIVERSARY to the Building and Feminist Studio Workshop!

Photos by E.K. Waller

Photos by E.K. Waller